

Winners in Area Moon Contest

Lewis College Sophomore Takes 1st Place

A Lewis College sophomore entering because "it was around my birthday" is winner of the Graphic Newspapers' "Man On The Moon" contest.

Paul Zimmerman, 19, of 6643 Hubbard Lane, Tinley Park came within 36 minutes and 13 seconds of guessing the time Astronaut Neil Armstrong first stepped onto the moon's surface on July 20.

Zimmerman by computer count came closest of the 865 Graphic Newspaper readers in the contest. He guessed 10:20:07 p.m. EDT; the official time of the momentous event was 10:56:20 p.m. EDT.

Four other contestants have been selected runners-up. They are:

Kenneth Konas, second place, a seven year-old second grade student, 8935 S. Melvina, Oak Lawn, with a time of 9:28:10 p.m.

Wanda Gajdel, third place, a Chicago Circle Campus junior, 317 S. Lincoln, Westmont, with a time of 9:19:20 p.m.

Mrs. Delores Spiegel, fourth place, a housewife, 4003 N. Park St., Westmont, with a time of 9:10:07 p.m.

Leonard Wlodarski, fifth place, 16341 Sherwood Dr., Tinley Park, with a time of 9:04:23 p.m.

Zimmerman was presented Monday with the complete set of World Book Encyclopedia, first place prize for the Graphic Newspapers' winning reader. The four runners-up are each receiving the 1969 World Book Encyclopedia Yearbook.

National winners in the contest, co-sponsored by 168 newspapers and TODAY, the Gannett Newspaper serving the Cape Kennedy area, were announced last week. The national winners were only five seconds off the mark.

Zimmerman said "quite a few of the moon shots seemed to go off around my birthday, July 21, so I figured the moon landing shot would go up about then, too.

He "put a lot in" for July 21, but said he entered only three or four guesses for July 20. "My mom entered a few, too," Zimmerman said.

When it was clear the moon walk would begin late in the day July 20, Zimmerman "figured I was out of it." He said he was out celebrating his birthday and saw only the ending part of the moon walk, and had to watch the start on television tape replays later.

"It was quite unbelievable, quite magnificent," Zimmerman said about the moon walk.

Zimmerman will be a sophomore at Lewis College in Lockport beginning in September. He explained he is a biology major and said he's interested in oceanography as a career.

"It's roughly the inverse of the moon project," he pointed out, because the depths of the oceans are as remote and unexplored as outer space and the moon. The dangers of exploration are equal, he said.

The second place winner, Kenneth Konas, had a different view from a second grader's perspective. The moon landing and walk was "nice. But I was scared. I thought the thing would be like quicksand."

His brother James with his fifth grade class and other persons at school had made entering the contest part of a moon project. "I thought my brother would win," Kenneth said, noting he only made one guess.

Told that she was the third place winner, Wanda Gajdel

Dist. 96 Schools Adopt Special Education Program

By Louise Schaller

ROMEOVILLE -- District 96 school board members voted last Monday to join the Lockport cooperative special education program. When Lockport formed this group several years ago, District 96 felt it could better service a program of its own.

Services will remain the same with the exception of the trainable mentally handicapped children. They will attend classes in Lockport instead of Trinity School in Joliet.

Bruce Webster, board president, said that joining the cooperative program would save tax dollars and still provide a quality education for these students.

The teacher agreement was unanimously adopted. This covers a salary schedule and fringe benefit package deal.

Kenneth Hermansen, superintendent, will receive $22,000. John Lukancie, assistant superintendent; Paul Swinford, business manager; and James Gove, administrative assistant, will each receive $17,100.

Tax money was received from DuPage Township, $590,145.78; Lockport Township, $1,239,133.50; and Wheatland Township, $498.40.

Robert Shoop, architect's representative, gave a comprehensive report on the district schools. Final grading is nearly complete at Brook View School and punch list items are being worked on.

All efforts are being made to have Ridge View School ready for Sept. 1. Regan Construction Company submitted a report on the degree of completion in all building phases.

Air conditioning is almost completed at Valley View School. Acoustical work at West View Junior High is progressing.

Bids on the bus maintenance facility will be sent out this week and the results made known at the next meeting.

Seven teachers approved for hiring were Alan Barney, science; H. James Gagne, graphic arts; Arthur Laker, social studies; Barry Mason, art, all at West View; Virginia Bromley, grade five at North View; Nancy Jones, art at Park View; and Sandra Ward, grade two, at Valley View.

Eight bus drivers and two part-time mechanics were approved.

Next meeting is Aug. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Park View library.

CHANGES IN the making. In the not too far distant future Washington St. no longer will feed into U.S. 30 at Gougar Rd. Washington St. will join Lincoln Highway west of that truck stop seen at the left and Gougar Rd. will also have a new look. When this picture was taken last week all of the traffic signal light standards had been removed but one. The intersection had become a 5-way stop and will remain as such until the new crossing is ready. U.S. 30 is being widened from Gougar east to the widened portion serving entry and exit for I-80. And you know something? The 5-way stops seem to handle traffic more smoothly than the lights.

Consultants Will Survey Water, Sewer Systems

LOCKPORT -- Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers from Chicago, informed Gordon McClusky, director of public works, that they would survey the water system at a cost of $4,300. Sanitary sewer survey would cost $5,500.

In the water study, the consultants would study all available reports, maps, charts and plans. They would re-examine and update if necessary the population forecasts and water requirements for the present and ultimate service area.

Assumed ultimate service area is bounded on the west by the Chicago Drainage Canal, on the east by Gougar Rd., on the north by the proposed Fox Valley Freeway, north of W. 151st St., and on the south by Oak St.

Consultants will evaluate the existing water system and present a preliminary layout for the recommended complete water system for the ultimate service area based upon existing planning and zoning.

They would determine supply requirements for the present and future water demands and outline a program for acquiring additional well sites.

Preliminary cost estimates would be prepared for each of the recommended construction phases.

In reviewing the sewer system, the consultants would determine and tabulate the probable present and future sanitary and storm flows within the present service area.

They would recommend installation of additional separate storm sewers to divert storm water away from inadequate water sanitary sewers.

A master sanitary sewer system plan will be prepared outlining the recommended size and location of trunk collector sewers and major branch lines.

Lutherans Give Books To Library

MOKENA Immanuel Lutheran Church Youth League, Ladies Aid, Ruth Society, and the Club combined organization resources to give approximately $100 worth of books to the Mokena public library. The library occupied a portion of the building that formerly was Immanuel Church.

The selection of books, totaling more than 60 titles, was made to cover as wide a reader interest as possible. It includes five sets of plastic covered books for the very young reader.

Of teenage and young adult interest are such books as "From Teens to Marriage," "Love Can Say No," "Youth Considers 'Do It Yourself' Religion," "Lovejoy, Martyr To Freedom." The last is an historical novel written by the now Lt. Governor of Illinois, Paul Simon.

There are books on today's social and cultural concerns such as "Nightmare Drugs," "Nuclear War and Deterrence," "A Hungry World," "Mental Health," "Racism and the Christian" and others.

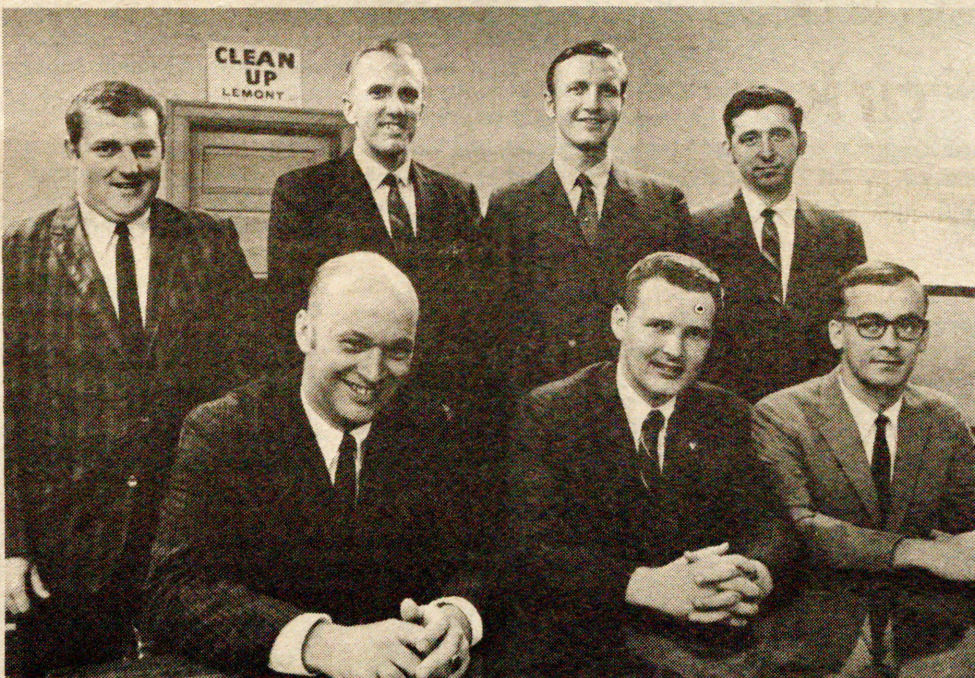

For the field of church history there are such titles as "Meet The Twelve," "The Church of the Catacombs," "A Short History of Christianity," "This Is Luther."

Of particular interest is a special series of books on sex education produced under the auspices of the board of parish education of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. These books have been endorsed by many religious denominations and are also being used in some public school systems. One of the books in this series was written by the Rev. Dr. August J. Buelmann, former pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Mokena.

Some miscellaneous titles are "Enemy In the Pew," "Science, God and You," "A Dictionary of Christian Ethics," and "When You're A Widow."

The books were presented to the librarian, Miss Elaine Rechkemmer, by the Rev. E. H. Albers, Pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Lemont Zoning Hearings

LEMONT -- Two meetings of the Zoning Board of Appeals have been called for Aug. 11 at the Lemont Village Hall, 418 Main St.

The first hearing will be conducted at 1 p.m. and will concern a change of zoning of property located on Bluff Rd., one-half mile west of Stephen St. The property will be used for the extraction of sand and other raw materials from the quarries.

The other hearing will be conducted following this one and has been called by Anthony Fries, who requests an R-2, single family, zoning for 1835 feet west of Parker Rd.

INSTALL CORNERSTONE at First Baptist Church on North Cedar Rd., New Lenox. The Rev. Doyle Miller (right) hands stone over to Edward Krizmanic, one of three brothers who make up Krizmanic Construction Co., the contracts for the church building, and Krizmanic installed it on the west wall at the southwest corner, and behind it was placed the metal box the pastor is holding which contains the church constitution, a copy of the current budget, charter members, a copy of the constituting service April 25, 1965, and pictures of the first meeting place and the site of the new church. Services will continue to be held in the Lions Den, on South Cedar Rd. until the new church is ready, probably about Oct. 1.

Name Tinley Gardens Man To School Board

MOKENA - Woodrow Horton, of Tinley Gardens, has been appointed to board of education of Arbury Hills School. The appointment was made by the board to take the place of Thomas Tannis, who resigned.

Horton is an active member of the Tinley Gardens Homeowners Association and the Arbury Hills Lions Club and has devoted considerable time to community and school affairs.

The board has set the fees for the 1969-70 school year. Bus fees: one child, $3 a month; two children, $4.50; three children, $6, and four or more children per family $7.50. This schedule reflects a reduction of 50 cents a month per family.

The milk fee is $5 per child. Book fees: $5 for kindergarten; $8 for grades 1-3 and $10 for grades 4-8.

Registration will be held the week of Aug. 18. Children entering kindergarten or first grade, and those entering fifth grade must have their health records. It was also stressed that fees must be paid at this time.

said, "Yea! That kind of makes the day a little better." She said, "I thought I was farther apart than I was: I didn't keep a record. I've had good luck in contests, but never have gotten a first yet."

Miss Gajdel made seven guesses and "took the dates just out of my head."

Another contest fan was Mrs. Delores Spiegel, a former junior high school science teacher, now a housewife. The fourth place winner, had an interest in July 21. Mrs. Spiegel's husband's birthday was July 21.

"We made six or seven entries, and held off until just before the deadline. My husband and I watched the possible window dates," Mrs. Spiegel said.

They had toured Cape Kennedy previously and were visiting at Ft. Lauderdale the morning of the Apollo 11 launch. "We had binoculars, but it was too overcast," she said.

The 13 year-old will be a Kirby Elementary school eighth grader in the fall. He entered two times, and narrowed his choice of times to the evening because "that's when the other Apollos entered orbit."

A GIFT of books to the Mokena district public library was made by societies of Immanuel Lutheran Church, who deputized the pastor, the Rev. E. H. Albert, left, to make the presentation to Miss Elaine Rechkemmer, right, the librarian. The two young patrons getting a first look at some of the selections are Sandra Rust and Cheryl Richardson.

Keepataw Days

Archie Abrams Named Grand Parade Marshall

LEMONT -- Archie Abrams, 84, of 307 1/2 Canal St., Lemont, has been named as grand parade marshal for the 1969 Keepataw Days parade, announced by the Original Lemont Jaycees.

Abrams, a resident of Lemont for the past 66 years, has resided at his present address for six years. Prior to moving to Canal St., he had resided for 34 years at 502 Porter St.

According to members of the Jaycee parade committee, Archie was chosen as grand marshal due to his untiring years of service to the community of Lemont. Archie has served on the village board of trustees for 20 of the past 22 years. During this time he served as committee chairmen, mayor-protem, and as a board member. During his course of service he has sat on ten different village boards. He retired from the board on May 1, 1969, after not seeking his term re-election.

During his community service, Archie served for six years on the police committee and law and order committee. When he first started there was a total department of one man, which when he retired from police service, had grown to eight regulars, four part-time and one policewoman.

Archie reported that, "when I first started on village service, the village was $330,000 in the red. Most of this was from back interest not paid on bonds. It took a total of about 18 years to get the village out of the red."

Born Feb. 6, 1885 in Chicago, Archie was orphaned at the age of four. He was sent to live at St. Vincent's Orphanage in Chicago. At the age of five, he was sent to live with a foster family in Elwood, Ill. He stayed there for five years. He then moved to another farm in the area and worked as a corn husker. He had two sisters with whom he had lost contact after the death of his parents. At the age of 21, he was told how to get in touch with them. He has since met with them.

After his work on the farm, he was employed with the Chicago and Alton Railroad, working as a block signal maintenance man. He was assigned to work in Lemont as a maintenance man. Each day he traveled from Lemont to Summer, 14 miles each way, to light the kerosene lamps. He has worked with four different railroads.

He married Caroline Schwartz, a Lemont girl, on

Frankfort Chamber Planning Fall Festival

FRANKFORT -- The Frankfort Chamber of Commerce, which met last Wednesday, July 30, at Prestwick Country Club, is getting busy now on plans for the annual Fall Festival to be held Aug. 30 and 31.

The Frankfort Lions are also active in this event as it has its annual wiener and sauerkraut supper the last Saturday in August.

This will make Aug. 30 a busy evening because it is also the date for the Chamber of Commerce dance. The affair will be a costume event in keeping with the 1890 theme launched by the Chamber several years ago.

The Chamber of Commerce reasoned that it would be wiser to capitalize on the natural setting of the village that to attempt to build it over in glass, chrome and glitter. Newly built commercial buildings follow the 1890 theme and so it could be expected that the Fall Festival dance will borrow from that era.

There will be softball and baseball, a flea market and --weather permitting-- an outdoor art fair.

The committees will detail the program later, it was announced.

The speaker at last week's meeting was George P. Lloyd, of Lloyd and DeGeuss, investment advisers of Joliet. He discussed investments in general and answered questions from the members.

Treasure Search

LOCKPORT -- A treasure hunt is planned for Sept. 20 at 10 a.m. at the Lockport Township Library. This event is for all children participating in the summer reading program.

Party was changed to Sept. 20 as many youngsters are on vacation in August.

Register Students

LOCKPORT -- New Students to District 91 may register at the Kelvin Grove school office, 8th and Adams, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Birth certificate is requested for kindergarten registrants who must be five on or before Dec. 1, 1969.

Lockport Council Tables Parallel Parking Protest

by ANN KARKUT

LOCKPORT -- The Lockport city council tabled action on parallel parking on 10th street at Monday's meeting when councilman Frank Mayers was absent.

He was to contact businessmen in that vicinity to see what could be done about the semitrucks double parking when they unload merchandise.

Mayor George Nordstrom repeated what he said at the last meeting: "Council should change all parking or leave it alone."

Dick Cronholm and Len Strahanoski said there were many accidents on this street. Swen Nelson challenged them and asked for statistics from police chief Bob Gait.

The council has requested

chief Gait to supply the information at the next meeting.

No federal funds are available at this time for the proposed secondary sewer treatment plant in Lockport. A bond referendum was passed June 21 to allow the city to start the project made mandatory by the state.

Lockport's request is No. 56. Application will be reviewed again next year by the state. The state has informed the council that only $28,819 will be forthcoming of the $60,000 motor fuel tax fund slated for Lockport.

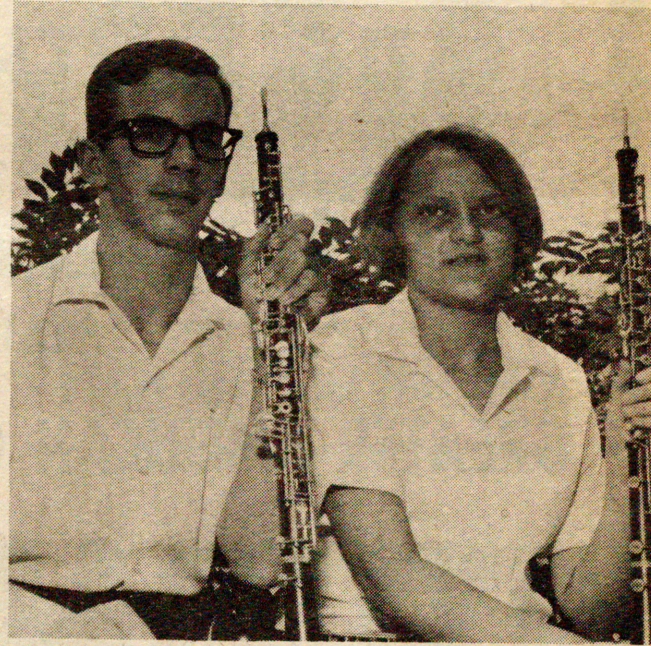

Lockport previously had sent a letter of protest to the state regarding the confiscation of motor fuel funds. The city will send protest letters again to state representatives and senators.

Condemnation procedures for buildings deemed unsafe by the building inspector and fire marshal were adopted. Art Gunderson and Donald Kimpel were sent notices by city attorney Eugene Korst to have these buildings demolished by Aug. 1.

Property in question is at 815 Clinton and 1033 S. State. The building inspector and fire marshal will be instructed to inspect the building at 420 E. 10th St. The Council will take action on this property after they report findings.

More telephone calls are made between Honolulu and California than between any other overseas points.

JANET STEIDL and Philip Chilcote were first chair oboe players in the recent senior orchestra at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. This is part of the annual Illinois Summer Youth Music program. Chilcote comes from South Holland and Miss Steidl from 803 E. Division St. in Lockport. Illinois Summer Youth Music is made up of 15 individual organization camps meeting for various two week periods from June 22 through Aug. 1. Total season enrollment is 1,295 gifted grade and high school musicians.

Cheaper Fares For R.I. Travel

MOKENA -- Three new ticket classes--weekly, semi-monthly and monthly--were placed on sale by the Rock Island Lines beginning Aug. 1 to commuters living in the Blue Island-Joliet area and traveling to those two cities.

Muri H. Bonesteel, director of commuter services, made the announcement. He said the reason for the move is to enable regular riders from Midlothian, Oak Forest, Tinley Park, Mokena and New Lenox traveling to Blue Island and Joliet to have the same savings benefits on multiple ride tickets which commuters traveling into Chicago now enjoy.

"More people are commuting to work each day into Joliet and other intermediate communities. Establishment of weekly, semi-monthly and monthly ticket categories, where previously only one way and round trip tickets were available, will give these riders significant savings on a cost per ride basis," he explained.

"For example, if you purchase a monthly ticket between Tinley Park and Blue Island, the cost per ride is only 45 c. compared with a one way ticket costing 75 cents or a round trip ticket which sells for $1.35," Bonesteel pointed out. He gave another example of savings possible under the new ticket plan. The cost of a one way ticket between Mokena and Blue Island is 90 cents and a round trip ticket is $1.85, but the cost per ride is reduced to 69 cents on a weekly ticket, 61 cents on a semi-monthly and only 56 cents if you buy a monthly ticket.

president; Mrs. Allen Watson, Macomb, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Greider, Congerville, publicity chairman; Miss Marilyn Matasovic, Mokena, secretary; Mrs. Marvin Staggs, Avon, president. All Illinois women interested in Herefords are invited to become members of the auxiliary.

Sept. 30, 1911. They had three sons, Clarence, who is called "Bear", now an employee at Pure Oil Co.; Archie Jr., deceased; and Alvin L. Abrams. Each of his boys received their grade and high school educations in Lemont, and played as regulars on many of the sport teams. Archie now has 10 grandchildren.

He later worked for the Chicago Bell Telephone Company, where he served for 18 years. He began as a laborer and served for nine years as a foreman in charge of schooling and establishing work standards.

He also has 30 years experience as a factory superintendent; 12 years at the Illinois Pure Aluminum, 13 years at Aluminum Products, and five years with the Chicago Thrift Company. During this period, he worked for the first manufacturers. He then worked for the first stainless steel utensils manufacturers.

In the nine years, from 1920 to 1929, he owned the Lemont Confectionery Store, located at 210 Main St.

During 18 years of his life, Archie played baseball and served as an umpire for local games. He also played some professional baseball in Chicago. During his service as umpire, he reports that he was "only assaulted once by a player-- but many times by spectators." He was a member of the Umpire Protection Association of Chicago for 20 years.

A member of the Lemont Methodist Church, Archie is an active member of the three orders of the Masonic, the Blue Lodge, Scottish Rite with a 32nd degree, and the Shrine. He has belonged to the Masonic Order for the past 50 years. He has served as president of the Issac Walton League in Lemont, and started the village softball program and served as its president for two years.

When asked how he felt about the village of Lemont, Archie commented, "No family in this village has ever been treated any finer than my family and myself. This is a village of different nationalities and creeds, yet they mix well and are good citizens. All are fine, good, Christian people. Many of my friends are gone, but have left behind sons and daughters who I will try to help in any way, as long as it is fair, just and honest."

Keepataw Days

Should Keepataw Days continue to be held in Lemont? Every year? Held the same way they have been?

These are all questions that have come up in the past few months, since the announcement by the Jaycees that the annual festival would be held this year in the village.

Celebration of the annual event, sponsored by the Original Lemont Jaycees, marks the ending of summer and the beginning of Indian summer. During the three-day festival, booths, rides and games are set-up on the streets of Lemont for the enjoyment of all ages.

Many residents have expressed a negative attitude to the festival. They argue that the carnival and fun draws undesirables into the village and trouble starts. This is true in one phase and untrue in another. Every community offering a carnival or festival of any sort risks having people from outside of their village enter.

Most people coming from elsewhere to the festival are those who have children and they are trying to offer to their children what the community of Lemont offers to the children of its residents. An evening of fun for a child is worth more to a parent than most anything else.

Children of Lemont look forward to the annual festival each year. This brings them joy and excitement. This is also their last, final fling before going back to school in the fall.

Do the majority of Lemont residents really want to "Ban the Festival" for all? Or will they reconsider and add their support and encouragement to the Jaycees in this their community effort? We feel that the residents will support and help in this, the big event for Lemont in the year.

How To Raise Delinquents

Twelve rules for raising delinquent children, credited to the police department at Houston, Texas, are reproduced here for consideration by parents.

"1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

"2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up 'cuter' phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

"3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him 'decide for himself.'

"4. Avoid the use of the word 'wrong.' It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

"5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.

"6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized but let his mind feast on garbage.

"7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

"8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as YOU had them?

Rusted Money

While bankers, economists, government experts, boards and commissions issue ponderous statements about inflation—that few can understand—the entry of a college student in an imaginary diary dated July 15, 1972, tells the story of inflation in plain English:

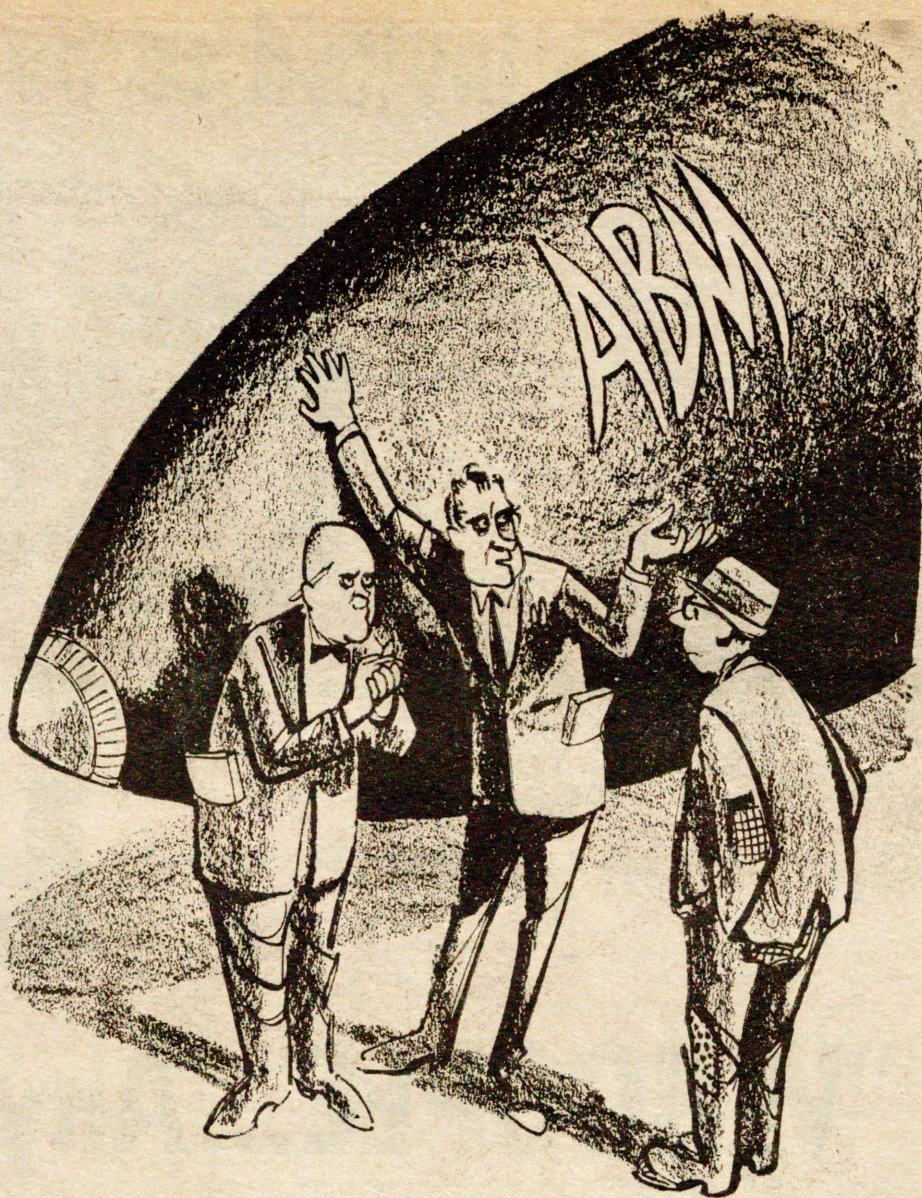

"The young man walks into a restaurant. 'I'll have a cheeseburger,' he says. 'How much?' Says the counterman: 'That's $8 and $1.60 tax makes $9.60.' 'How do you sell them so cheap?' 'Volume.' 'Well, here's a $500 bill and let's see if I have the 60 cents. Nope, all my change rusted again.'

Rusting money is a good synonym for inflation. It's what happens when governmental monetary and fiscal policies corrode the value of a nation's medium of exchange—its money.

Of late we have heard much of soaring beef prices. Supply and demand and inflation—rusted money—have pushed prices up. Soaring meat prices are but a part of the trend that includes everything from chewing gum to theater tickets and comic books. As a matter of fact, meat prices, in the view of farm authorities, have been low in comparison to production costs.

Be this as it may, supply and demand in a free market are now pushing prices up. Beef consumption has nearly doubled since 1951, and prices are at a 17-year high. Yet there is more to the story than these figures indicate. Disposable income spent for food declined from 23 per cent in 1951 to 17 per cent in 1968.

A Letter on ABM

BY SENATOR CHARLES PERCY

The Senate will vote today on the merits of deploying an anti-ballistic missile system.

This proposal was brought to the floor by the Committee on Armed Services after only 10 out of 18 of its members favored the plan. The debate has lasted three weeks. But the issue has been with us since President Johnson first approved the deployment of the Sentinel ABM—a system that was ultimately scrapped by President Nixon upon the recommendation of the Pentagon. I had opposed the Johnson decision.

As a new decision on ABM approaches, the outcome remains in doubt. The Senate is almost evenly divided. Senators whose honor and patriotism are beyond question, Republicans and Democrats alike, are aligned on either side of this vital issue.

I shall vote against the deployment of the ABM system in the United States at this time.

I shall do so because I feel deeply that the fundamental interests of our country call for delaying the decision to deploy for one year.

In that time, a firm path for arms talks will hopefully be laid down and in that time the ABM system, now technologically imperfect and incomplete, will hopefully be further refined and improved through intensive research, development, engineering, testing and evaluation. Deployment could occur at a test site in the Pacific.

In this way, we may yet avert another escalation of the nuclear arms race without endangering our national security.

Efforts to devise a workable ABM must continue without any loss in momentum. Therefore, I firmly believe that any attempt to eliminate or to reduce funds of the ABM for this purpose should be rejected by the Senate.

Consequently, I shall vote against any cuts whatsoever in the appropriation for the ABM as proposed by the Armed Services Committee, with the understanding that these funds should be spent for further development rather than actual deployment.

Some have claimed that in opposing the deployment of an ABM now I oppose a President of my own party.

Yet the fact is that the leader of those who favor deployment is Senator John C. Stennis, a Mississippi Democrat, while the leader of those who oppose deployment is Senator John Sherman Cooper, a Kentucky Republican who served with distinction as Ambassador to India under President Eisenhower.

The fact is that the ABM system has never been put together. Critical parts have never been tested. The design of several key elements has not yet been completed.

The fact is that under my commitment to fund the ABM project in full and to approve production of components that require a long lead-time, there will be no delay in my view in the present timetable should we decide a year from now that a genuine need to deploy the ABM exists.

And the fact is that on this important question the President has told me that each Senator should be guided by his own conscience to vote in a way that best serves the national interest.

For all these reasons, I shall vote against the deployment of the ABM now and I shall vote for funding in full the development of an effective ABM without any delay to have ready in the event it is needed.

Who Owns Lake Shirley?

Who owns Lake Shirley in Romeoville? Why the village, of course, despite rumors that the lake is still controlled by Alexander Construction Company.

Lake Shirley was turned over to the Romeoville village officials Oct. 6, 1965. At the Oct. 20, 1965 village board meeting a letter was read from Richard J. McKool, vice president of Alexander Construction Company, requesting payment of $9,241.30 for improvements made at the lake as per their agreement.

John Lynch, board attorney at that time, examined the deed and advised the board that everything was in order. The board then voted to pay the amount due.

The deed was recorded Nov. 4, 1965, at 9:30 a.m. in the Will County Court House by Mark DeLay, then village clerk. For those who might need further proof, the deed is recorded as document number R 65-9284, book 2186, page 491.

Persons who spread and report rumors like this ought to check their facts first. Romeoville village does own the lake, not the builder.

THE OLD BRIDGE just north of the 9th St. bridge down near Material Service lies in the center of the Sanitary and Ship Canal. It is slowly rusting away but serves as a landmark for barges traveling up and down the canal.

Across The Editor's Desk

By Ann Karkut

IF YOU'VE ever had a problem with your state government, then you know how frustrating it can be—it just goes to show you that lack of cooperation prevails greater on the state level than it does on the local level.

Does it pay to be honest and aboveboard about anything? This sounds like an odd statement and coming from me it sure is. But somehow I'm beginning to wonder. You look all around you and come to realize that it isn't what you know, it's who you know.

Number two son, Stan, had a slight car accident this winter. Another motorist tapped him on the rear bumper not even making a dent in it. Police were there to check out the accident. Since it was so slight Stan didn't give it another thought and neither did I.

Then some papers came from the state highway division which I sent back and told them to forward them to son number two—who at the time was in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean serving Uncle Sam with the U.S. Navy.

I thought that was the end of that since apparently no one had gotten hurt. Apparently someone was trying to collect for auto repairs at the expense of one who was being honest about the whole situation.

I had a rude awakening when a notice followed from the secretary of state's office demanding the boy's driver license and auto license within 10 days if proof of insurance was not filed.

Then I finally called the insurance agent who was more than a bit perturbed with me to say the least. I made two personal phone calls to Springfield trying to get some information on the accident.

When I made the first call and explained the situation I was told that they had my note on where to send the papers and that they didn't have anything to do with what went out of the secretary of state's office. The young lady said that the state highway division office was only interested in making sure the young man had insurance.

The insurance agent talked to another person on the second call giving him all the particulars. Papers were then filed by the insurance company but apparently not soon enough to suit the secretary of state so then the next notice came through the Joliet office. This called for another explanation.

Heaven only knows we probably aren't through with the mess yet but when and if the state department sends someone out in the middle of the ocean to revoke his license I want to see the travel expense bill for tracking him down wherever his ship might be at the time.

I realize that I am at fault for not notifying the insurance agent in the first place but what I'm trying to get across is the apparent density and lack of cooperation between offices.

A movement is underway to abolish local governments. The claim is that they overlap big government and cause the taxpayer more expense. If this is true, I'll gladly pay the so-called added expense for the right to go locally and express my views and gripes. When your man sits right in your area you have a much better chance of being heard than when you have to make long distance calls and get nowhere for your efforts. The further removed the government is the more remote your chances are of even being heard.

The Shopping Trip

By JACKIE FREITAG

Most girls have a problem when they go shopping in a clothes store. They can get lost for hours at a time and spend every last cent that they have. Not me, man, my hang-up is a grocery store.

That may sound odd but the problem is I can never quite decide what I want. I enter the store with the idea that I want one or two items and will only spend ten or 15 minutes looking for them. Not true. I usually end up with at least half-a-dozen things that I don't need and have wasted a good hour.

The best part of the trip is when I have to decide whether or not I can use the stuff I buy. I have sat for many hours trying to figure out why I bought that stuff—ed pimento olives (I don't like the taste), the piece of pork (I don't like pork) or the stupid can of vegetables I picked up. I can completely blow my mind in the cake, pudding and jello department, but can't make jello.

After you spend at least 15 minutes going through the meat department, which I never seem to leave, you enter the jam-jellies and salad dressing but one and don't care for too many jellies. This only takes five minutes.

Next comes the canned goods and noodles department. Crazy! It is at this point that I discovered that if I buy the lasagna noodles

I'll have to go and buy the other stuff to go with them. Oh, well, I guess I should give up completely.

From A Younger Pen

The next big problem is which soft drink to purchase. I like them all and want everyone of them, but alas, I can have only one.

So after the big ten-minute decision I pick up a carton and proceed to the ice cream counter. Here comes hang-up number two. I am madly in love with ice cream.

I love the taste and all flavors. I get out of there with only one kind, which is a 20 minute decision, and a cold hand.

Finally the big moment to check-out arrives. Here comes the fun part. After paying for my hard picked selections they bag them and I have to take them home. Then to decide where to put them is another problem, but it all works out. The only trouble, I forgot to buy what I had originally gone into the store for.

Katherine Heisner
Telephone 469-5187

The first Eisenbrandt Family Reunion was held at the Frankfort Legion Hall on Sunday, July 27, with 100 relatives in attendance. Awards went to Mrs. Chris Breneman, Parsons, Kans. oldest cousin; Paul Eisenbrandt, son of the Ralph Eisenbrandts of Frankfort, youngest cousin; Everett and Bertha Teach of Mesa, Ariz. cousins coming the longest distance. Out-of-state relatives came from Iowa, Wisconsin, Arizona, and Kansas.

The original Eisenbrandt family of the parents and six grandchildren came to the United States in 1846. In 1869, one of the sons and his family left this area to settle in Kansas. The reunion this year reunited the Kansas relatives with the Eisenbrandt descendants living in this area after a separation of 100 years.

The next reunion is planned for 1971 to commemorate the 125th anniversary of the immigration of the Eisenbrandt family to this country.

ATHLETE'S FOOT, FOOT ODOR? READ THIS --

M. Sgt. Geo. Cofer writes from Southeast Asia: "I had the worst case of foot odor a person could have -- tried all the remedies I could find. Then I got T-4-L and the F.O. was gone in two days."

"I had 1/2 bottle left. I saw this Sgt. limping from a bad case of running sores on his feet -- had them for years and couldn't wear regulation black socks. I gave him the last of my T-4-L and even helped him apply it. In 3 days his foot was better and in one week all clear. He was thrilled and now wears black socks." Unusual Treat Honors The Apollo 11 Flight

SOUTHWEST -- The moon shot syndrome means that everything's now, today, while tomorrow might be even faster. Modern cooks can whip up a miracle of a dinner in mere minutes with convenience foods. And what's more--it tastes as though it were a many hours creation.

Take a delight of a coffee cake--rich with butter, tart-sweet with apricot or pineapple preserves and nutty with pecans. This unusual treat, prepared quickly and easily with four ingredients, takes only a few minutes to mix and 15 minutes in the oven. And it serves eight to ten appreciative appetites!

Convenience foods plus imagination equals Moon Shot Coffee Cake. Three ingredients can be found on the supermarket shelves. The fourth, butter, is handy from the refrigerated case.

Apple Butter Bread, another moon shot idea, has, as its base, biscuit mix. Apple butter from a jar, a few other easy additions and the bread is ready for the loaf pan.

MOON SHOT COFFEE CAKE

1 unsliced sandwich loaf
½ cup butter
1 cup apricot, pineapple or peach preserves
½ cup chopped pecans

Cut crusts from top and sides of unsliced bread. Cut into squares, cutting to but not through the bottom crust. Cream butter until fluffy; beat in preserves. Add pecans.

Spread mixture over top, between slices and on sides of loaf. Tie string around loaf to hold it together. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 15 minutes or until top is slightly browned and loaf is heated. Makes eight to ten servings.

Note: Sliced bread may be used as follows: Remove crusts from bread and spread slices with butter and preserve mixture. Stack 3 slices and bake as directed. Cut into diagonal pieces to serve.

APPLE BUTTER BREAD

2 cups prepared biscuit mix
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup apple butter
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine biscuit mix and soda. Cream shortening and sugar together; add eggs and beat well. Add biscuit mix and blend. Add apple butter and chopped walnuts; mix well. Spoon into greased and floured 9 by 5 by 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in 350 degrees oven for 50 to 55 minutes or until done.

Differences Between Young, Middle-Aged Brides

SOUTHWEST -- What's the biggest difference between a young couple and a middle-aged bride and groom at the marriage-license window?

A lot more than their age, according to an official of the busiest marriage-license bureau in the world. This veteran of Newlywed Row, first deputy clerk Thomas Lennane, says it's the air of contentment and lack of awkwardness that surround the older pair.

"Younger couples are more nervous," Lennane has noticed. "Sometimes they even bring in a member of their family for support, or a friend. Couples who are older come in by themselves and seem more at ease. They fill out their papers quietly and in general are more relaxed."

Lennane expects to see more of the relaxed type than ever in 1969 because the number of mature eligibles is setting a U.S. record. Latest Census Bureau figures reveal that there are now over 9 million of the most marrying kind of mature women -- those who have either been divorced or widowed.

The statistics show that the chances for marriage (or remarriage) for women at age 45 are improving rapidly. For example, widows now have a one-in-three chance and divorcees two out of three chances to leave the license bureau with a husband this year.

Newlywed-watcher Thomas Lennane is not the only one to have noticed contrasts in the way younger and older altar-bound couples act. Bridal consultants of large department stores have a keen eye for the cool, mature bride. One buyer says: "They're not as giddy or excited. Usually they want something they can wear again. Something tailored. They want colors like blues, pinks, dark beige."

Another consultant said: "We usually steer them to the regular dress department. The most appropriate choices for less formal weddings are the ensemble dress and coat outfits in pastels or white. If an older bride is going to have a formal wedding with long dress and all, we would recommend something like an ivory colored English net with Alencon lace." (She estimates that of the women who come to her department for advice, about two older brides a season will insist on the traditional formal wedding with all the trimmings.)

Still another consultant characterized the older bride as: "Not as bubbly and excited as the teenager. She's more practical. Also, she's better looking than you'd expect. Sometimes I'm surprised when I find out how old the bride is. I guess hormones have something to do with it, but 45-year-olds today look like what I would call 30-year-olds."

And so the image of a calm, practical, self-confident bride emerges. But like her younger sister or herself two decades earlier, the over-40 bride does have something -- a great deal -- in common with brides everywhere. An attractive frosted blonde prospective bride summed it up by answering the reporter's question: "What does getting married at this age mean to you?" simply with, "I know it means happiness -- that's just about it."

Picnic Set

LEMONT -- St. Matthew Lutheran Church of Lemont, will conduct their annual Sunday School and church picnic at 12 noon, Aug. 10, at Argonne picnic grounds.

Chicken dinners will be sold. Games and prizes will be held for all children.

Lockport Wed In West

LOCKPORT -- Miss Nancy Adele Bewersdorf, a former Lockport resident, became the bride of Darryl M. Sloan in a double ring ceremony in St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Newbury Park, Calif. The Rev. James Rehnberg officiated.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Bewersdorf of Newbury Park. Groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M.W. Sloan also of Newbury Park and Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Create Atmosphere At Old Museum

SOUTHWEST -- The Caroline Martin Mitchell Museum, Aurora Ave., Naperville, has created an atmosphere of warmth and charm that makes visitors believe they've stepped back 100 years into a living home.

The Victorian mansion, perched on top of a rise, is furnished, room by room, in the manner of a home of that era.

From the formal parlor to the toys in the children's room, the contents have been donated to the Museum by people and families in the area who wish to preserve a bit of the past for future generations to enjoy.

Under the direction of Curator Ruth Gamertsfelder, the Museum last year attracted 6,000 visitors who learned of its contents from one of the bevy of ten girl guides.

This year, added open hours are attracting guests in even greater numbers from nearby communities.

The Museum is open to guests, free of charge, each Wednesday, Sunday and holiday from spring to fall, from 2 to 5 p.m.

In addition, groups and organizations are invited to make appointments for special tours on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday.

Appointments may be made with Miss Gamertsfelder or Nancy Diller, head guide, by calling the Museum, 355-0274.

LOFTY CEILINGS, lace curtains and ornate furnishings create the aura of bygone Victorian elegance in the second parlor of Naperville's Caroline Martin Mitchell Museum. Seated at an antique melodian, Guide Nancy Diller blends into the scene in her civil war period costume. Costumed guides take visitors every Sunday, Wednesday and holiday into the world of the Victorian midwest from 2 to 5 p.m. Group and private tours can be arranged by calling the museum, 355-0274.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Fatherless Son

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am widowed and the mother of two teenagers, one a boy. After the death of my husband over a year ago, my son seems to be changing. His grades have slipped, he has dropped out of group activities, and when I try to talk to him now, he acts as if he has an awful chip on his shoulder. Have you any suggestions?

F.D., Cudahy, Wis

Dear F.D.:

Since a boy usually models himself on his father, it is difficult for a mother to assume a dual parental role. In doing so, you may not be able to give him the mothering that you are best qualified to give. Your son may need male companionship—an uncle, a family friend, a grandparent, a college student, a group leader, or a school teacher. It is essential that this man be someone whom the child trusts, for he will be undertaking a crucial role in your boy's life.

If, as you say, your son's loss of his father is having a detrimental effect on his school work, you should talk to the school authorities, explaining the family situation. They, too, can be most helpful to your son at this crucial time in his development, further complicated by the loss of a father.

Alone and Weeping

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Isn't the mother-of-the-bride supposed to be moderately happy? My daughter got married a month ago. Admittedly the preparations took a lot out of me, but I find myself either crying or finding excuses to put off the household chores. Sometimes I haven't even prepared dinner for my husband by the time he comes home. I guess I really miss my daughter. Is this normal? Will I get over it?

C.W., Corpus Christi, Tex.

Dear C.W.:

Your reaction is not uncommon. For many women, the changes in the family—children going off to college or getting married—occur at a time when their body is also undergoing changes: the onset of the menopause. With the children grown and no longer requiring full attention, some women experience a sense of uselessness and emptiness. Get yourself involved in community activities or develop a hobby that once interested you.

Before you do, see your doctor. If your symptoms are caused by the menopause, medication can help. With the onset of the menopause, the body produces less of the hormone, estrogen. This change, in some women, gives rise to a variety of complaints. If so, estrogen replacement therapy can relieve many of the symptoms.

Superfluous Hair

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Like the woman, B.K. from Los Angeles, I have a problem with excess facial hair. I have tried to remove it by many means but without success. I even visited an out-of-town plastic surgeon, but he offered no hope. What causes this? Is there anything you can recommend besides electrolysis?

M.M., Gainsboro, Tenn.

Dear M.M.:

The causes of superfluous hair can include heredity factors, one's constitution, glandular disorders, or even the menopause. For these reasons a medical evaluation is recommended before treatment.

There are various methods for the removal of superfluous hair—not all recommended for facial hair. These include tweezing, cutting, waxing, shaving, abrasion methods, depilatories and electrolysis. All, except electrolysis, are temporary.

Contact your local medical society for a list of dermatologists. If the one you consult thinks that electrolysis is indicated, he may perform it himself or suggest a qualified operator.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help write to Margaret Brookfield, Graphic Newspapers, 200 Main St., Lemont, Ill. 60439.

Our Vacation

Our long planned vacation,
Was a realization,
Beyond expectation,
Defying imagination.
Car & boat transportation,
Reached our destination,
Where naturalization,
Inspired edification.
The recommendations,
And accommodations,
Earned acclamations,
With appreciation.

The habitations,
Our associations
Banned affectations,
Nullified frustrations,
Each day's aspirations,
Plus accelerations,
Brought us relaxation
Amid humorous situations.
All too soon cessation,
Back to modernization,
Where with justification,
We'll plan next year's vacation.

No vitamins or special plant foods have been used, Mrs. Semmler said, after all, who wants to grow 4-foot tall geraniums. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Canal Purchase Is Coming Closer

LEMONT -- A meeting was conducted last week between members of the I & M Canal Acquisition Committee and John Galue, chief engineer for the state, on the proposed purchase by the Village of Lemont of canal property.

Report on the meeting was given by Mayor John

Kujawa at the regular meeting of the board of trustees.

Kujawa reported that the plans had been presented and accepted by Galue, who re-

'Apollo '69 Program Nears End

LEMONT -- Youngsters reading books in the "Apollo '69" summer reading program are reminded that the program will be ending on Aug. 16.

Mrs. S. R. Witt, librarian, urges that all papers be turned in by Aug. 22.

Mrs. Witt reports that library book lovers go for lighter reading in summer. Heavy stories and dissertations gather dust on the shelves, while readers switch to books on travel and outdoor sports. The classics lie forgotten while modern mystery, romance and adventure stories achieve a brisk circulation.

"People like to let their minds as well as their bodies take a rest when they go on vacation. They read material that is easy to understand and absorb," stated Mrs. Witt. "Travel, outdoor sports, how-to-do-it yourself books, and similar reading matter enjoy a top spot in summer non-fiction preferences."

marked that these had been the first ones that he had seen to meet all the requirements and specifications.

The next step, Galue stated, was to have an ordinance passed by the board authorizing precedings to purchase the canal. A motion to prepare an ordinance, stating the village's intention to investigate and further research this project, was made by John Weber trustee. It was seconded by Bernard Shaf.

The next step was to set up a meeting between those on the Sanitary District, the people from the canal and the village board. This will be set up as soon as possible by the board.

'Make Safety Your Youth Form Hang-up': Coroner Committee

SOUTHWEST -- "Make Safety your hang-up," urges Willard Blood Will County Coroner.

"In the idiom of the day," said Blood, "make safety your hang-up this summer. We've got a low number of traffic and drowning fatalities this year. Let's keep it that way."

Will County maintained its traffic safety record over the long July 4 weekend, which passed without a single traffic fatality.

"It's been a long time since a three-day weekend has gone by without a traffic fatality in Will County," Blood said, "and residents are to be commended on the safety consciousness they have shown."

Blood said, however, that more traffic fatalities were recorded in the month of June than in any other month this year except February, when 12 traffic fatalities were reported.

There were nine auto deaths in June.

A statistical breakdown of cases investigated by the coroner's office as of June 30 shows there have been 36 traffic fatalities in Will County compared to 38 at the same time last year.

"We're ahead of the last year's record number of deaths," Blood asserted, "But I encourage Will County citizens to be extra alert to keep traffic deaths down."

Blood said the weather this summer has helped to keep traffic and drowning deaths to a minimum.

Blood said 11 of the 36 auto fatalities this year occurred on I-55. Four of the 36 occurred on I-80.

"Most of these deaths have been people living outside the county," Blood noted. "Super highways are safer than two lane county roads, but there are more people traveling on them. Safety on an interstate highway is up to the individual. The facilities are safe. Accidents are generally caused by driver failure."

Other types of deaths investigated by the coroner's office during this time period included four industrial deaths, six homicides and two justifiable homicides. There were no drownings.

"I am pleased the holiday weekend was free of any type of casualty," Blood said, "and I urge all Will County citizens to continue their efforts to make this a safer year."

ROMEOVILLE--St. Andrew's parish liturgical commission has formed a sub-committee called "The Youth Liturgical Study Sub-Committee." Members are the young people who are singers, guitarists and instrumentalists who play for the liturgy.

They will meet once a month under the direction of Mrs. Jane Sacco. Patrick Noler will preside at the meetings and Nancy Salaba will be secretary.

First meeting is tonight, Aug. 7, at 3:30 p.m. at St. Andrew's school hall.

Scout Picnic And Soap Box Derby

Marie Hovi
Telephone 479-5740

The Arbury Hills Cub Scouts held their picnic outing at Mokena Park on Saturday, July 26 after some of the boys hiked to the park from the home of Les Daniels, the Cub scoutmaster.

The boys did the cooking for the family and no one required hospitalization afterwards.

Several races were held among the boys. A sack race was won by Jim Daniels, and a wheel barrel race was won by Bob Lee and Keith Dornseif, and the three legged race was won by David Lee and David Mathiesson. Each boy was given a winning ribbon and a model kit of a car or plane.

The final summer outing instead of the regular pack meeting will be on Walnut Street with a Soap Box Derby. All the Cub Scouts will be eligible to enter a car including the Webelos Scouts. The only requirement is that the car have four wheels. The boys may be assisted by their dads or brothers in the preparation of the racing car, or the entire den may make one or more entries together.

Some refreshments will be available for the thirsty herds of youngsters and adults.

Come on over on Saturday, Aug. 23 to watch our young boys show off their talents on Walnut Street. For those who are unfamiliar with the location of Walnut Street, it is the easternmost street which heads south from the Willow Lane entrance on the crest of the hill.

The Braidwood Lions Club held their Charter Dinner at the Wilmington High School on Friday evening, July 25.

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson, Sr. Mr. Wilson Sr. is the president of the local Arbury Hills Lions Club. Also there representing the Arbury Hills Lions Club was Don Wilson Jr., who is the Secretary of the local group and his friend, Miss Sue Happach of Joliet.

The time is rapidly approaching for the big all-star day for the Arbury Hills Baseball League. It will be held at our field this coming Sunday, Aug. 10, beginning at 1 p.m.

There will be three games played with the first being a match of the Farm Team All-Stars against the Number 2 B Team All-Stars. The second game will see the meeting of the Number 1 B Team All-Star against the A Team. To climax the day's festivities there will be a game of the Pony Team against their dads with enough coaches, managers, and assorted willing volunteer dads to squeeze out a big enough team.

Come on over and spend the day watching a wild assortment of "baseball" games.

There was an all-star game scheduled to be played at the Mokena Park with conglomerate teams of Mokena, Peotone and Manhattan on one side and Arbury Hills, Frankfort and New Lenox on the opposing side.

The final score of the game when it was finally played was four to one in favor of the team from Mokena, Peotone and Manhattan.

The Pony Team has been entered in a week long tournament to be played Chicago Heights with the opening game to have been held on last Saturday. The outcome of that game determines the times of further play.

Waldvogel Leads Race At Santa Fe Speedway

SOUTHWEST -- Willy consistent 15-year-Santa Fe Speedway stock car veteran Don Waldvogel of Lockport, continues to widen his advantage in the late model division.

Waldvogel, who leads second-place pilot Bob Kelly of Wheaton by 86 points, will try to maintain his comfortable point lead on Aug. 9 and 10 as Santa Fe presents 10-event programs both racing nights.

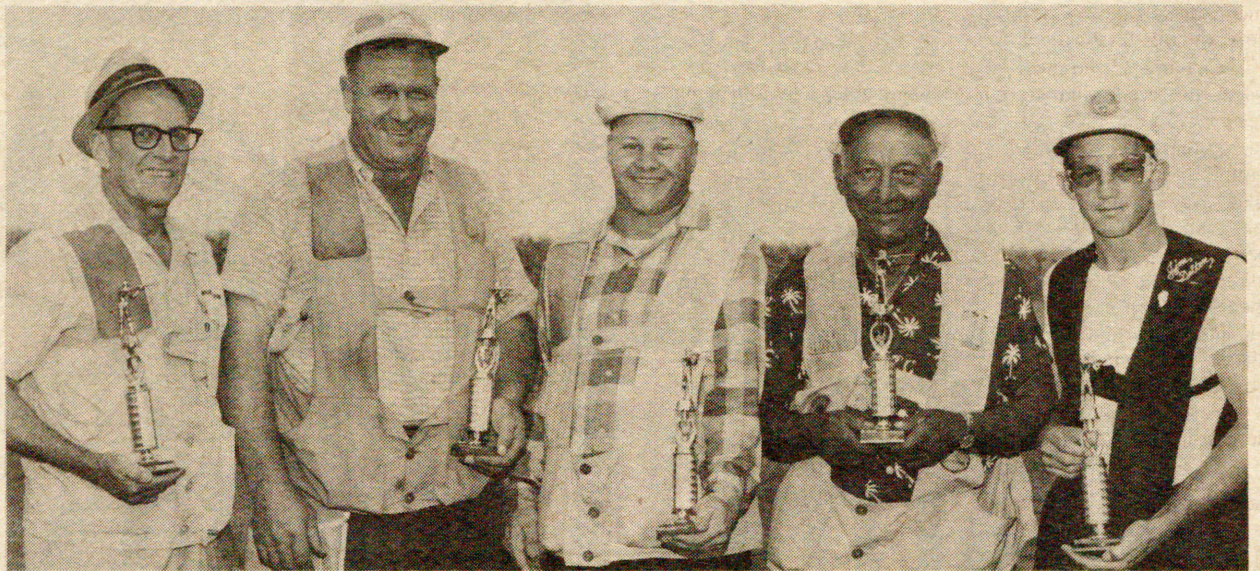

Twenty-five lap features for both late model and sportsman chauffeurs spotlight the lightning-quick stock car shows. Saturday's races begin at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday's program opens at 8. Time trials come one hour before the opening event.

Waldvogel, who has won five features, six trophy dashes and six heats in the 1969 season thus far, is seeking his first speedway championship in 11 years. Don's main competition figures to come from a quartet of top-rated Santa Fe late model driver--Dick Nelson of Chicago, Bob Kelly of Wheaton, Jim O'Connor of Kankakee, and Larry Jackson of Argo.

Other late model competitors include Marty Ridderhoff of Elmhurst, Tony Izzo of Bridgeview, Merle Perzee of Ashkum, and Kenny Kuehn of LaGrange.

Santa Fe presents top-flight stock car action each Saturday and Sunday evening.

Motorcycles take over the clay oval every Wednesday evening. Santa Fe is located at 91st and Wolf Rd.

WILL COUNTY again brought home some trophies from the state trap shoot of the Illinois Farm Sports Festival held July 26. First place "B" squad members are, left to right, Myron Fitzhenry of Joliet, Bernard Morris of Lockport, Marvin Hoffman of Custer Park, Joe Marcukaitus of Monee and James Dalton of Lockport. Their winning score was 447 out of a possible 500. Rounding out the Will County squad were Robert Loitz of Peotone, Lee Schaal and Dan Glenney of Wilmington, Frank Morris of Lockport and Wilbur Seil of Joliet. These five were only three targets short of the winning Clay County entry in the "A" team event.

Plan Archery Tournaments

was instructed at the last recreation board meeting to post monthly activity bulletins around the park. This has been done.

Fish outs are still being held every Saturday and Sunday at Lake Shirley from 5 to 8 a.m.

Registration for the teen tours is at 639 Lynn Ave. with the deadline Wednesday, Aug. 6. First field trip is Aug. 8 to the Chicago Police Department. A minimum of 40 boys and girls 12 and over is needed.

Golfers Compete In 'Mail' Tournaments

SOUTHWEST --Golfers will be competing for state and national titles in a tournament developed by the American Golf Association.

The major difference between this event and stereotyped tournaments, is that the golfers will be playing against par rather than each other. With the help of Uncle Sam and a unique method of computing scores, golfers will be competing in the tournament.

Rules of the tournament call for qualifying and competitive rounds to be played on the golfers' home courses, eliminating financial worries, travel, and time away from work.

Attested score cards submitted by mail will be computed through a special scoring system developed by the AGA for use in tournaments of this type. No handicaps are used, and all rounds are to be played under the existing rules of golf. Officials of the association point out that this is a basic test of golfing skills and not a sweepstake event.

Qualifying rounds will consist of 36 holes to be played between Aug. 22 and 31. Entrants who qualify will be shooting for state and national titles in four divisions: championship 140 (or under) -150; AAA 153-168; AA 169-194; and A 185 and over.

Trophies and awards will be presented to state and national winners as well as runner-up in each division. No prizes will exceed the $200 limit allowed for amateur golfers.

The tournament is open to all amateur male golfers 15 years of age or over. Entry blanks and further information may be obtained from the Tournament Director of the American Golf Association, 206 S. Green St., Morganton, N.C. 28655.

Have To Retake Lessons Claim Fishing Is For Birds?

SOUTHWEST--Red Cross water safety volunteers will undergo retraining in August at the YMCA pool in Joliet says Charles Beseman, water safety chairman for Will County regional Red Cross.

Volunteer water safety instructors are asked to register for the retraining unless they took the course in an earlier class. All instructors are required to take retraining by the end of 1969.

Course will be given Aug. 11, 12, 18 and 19 at the Joliet YMCA from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Robert Bate and Robert Clavenna are in charge.

Instructors unable to take retraining in the coming course may complete the requirement later in other places in the five county Mid-America chapter area.

Already qualified instructors will make up the enrollment for this class. Anyone interested may call Red Cross at 723-3494 for more details.

SOME of the best fishermen in the world wear wings.

They are large, tethered birds whose angling ancestry dates back 1300 years. Cormorants, tied to a long cord, are still used to fish rivers and lakes in some parts of the Orient. A metal ring fastened around the bird's neck keeps it from swallowing the catch. A cormorant may fetch its owner 100 to 150 fish per hour; a good catch ratio, anywhere.

Actually, birds of all kinds are important to fishermen, say the angling authorities. For birds are helpful in finding fish and in some instances are beneficial in reducing undesirable species of fish.

Not everyone can have a trained cormorant to do his fishing, but the role birds play in aiding salt-water anglers is well known. A flock of diving, wheeling gulls is often better than some of the new electronic equipment when it comes to locating schools of fish offshore and inshore.

Studies have shown that few warm-water game fish are taken by birds. Herons and other wading birds do their fishing along the edges of lakes and streams. Here they catch sluggish, shallow-water fish such as carp and gar, missing the more alert game fish.

Not all bird-fish relationships are beneficial to man. In some coastal areas, merganser ducks are a menace to salmon populations and in some cases have needed control to halt their excessive predations.

Another place man and birds tangle over fish is around fish hatcheries. Hatchery holding tanks are favorite feeding grounds for birds such as the kingfisher and great blue heron.

Now that you have been informed about the birds and the fish, the next time someone says fishing is for the birds -- smile and agree. After all, aren't there times when a cormorant would come in handy?

Lemont Sport Slants

By RUSS SANDBERG
A pair of young local linksters recently competed in the state wide Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tourney, which this year was hosted by the Chevy Chase Club in Wheeling.

Greg Jemsek shot rounds of 80-81, while Mike Bernatowicz turned in cards which registered totals of 80-83. Chevy Chase proved to be a pretty tough obstacle for nearly all of the contestants.

Bernatowicz moved to the finals by winning both Lemont and Chicago Jaycee meets. Mike had a 77 at Gleneagles, plus a fine outing of 72 at Chicago's Jackson Park.

Jemsek shot a second place finishing round of 78 at Gleneagles, to earn the right to play in the state finals. Greg will be a senior at LaGrange High in the fall, while Mike will return to anchor another strong Lemont High golf squad in the spring of 1970.

Both young men were chap-eroned at Wheeling by local Jaycee golf chairman Steve Otto, a representative of the Original Lemont Jaycees.

Perhaps a highlight of the weekend event was the tourney ending banquet, which featured teen age favorite Clark Weber serving as master of ceremonies. A total of 135 entries were on hand for the meet.

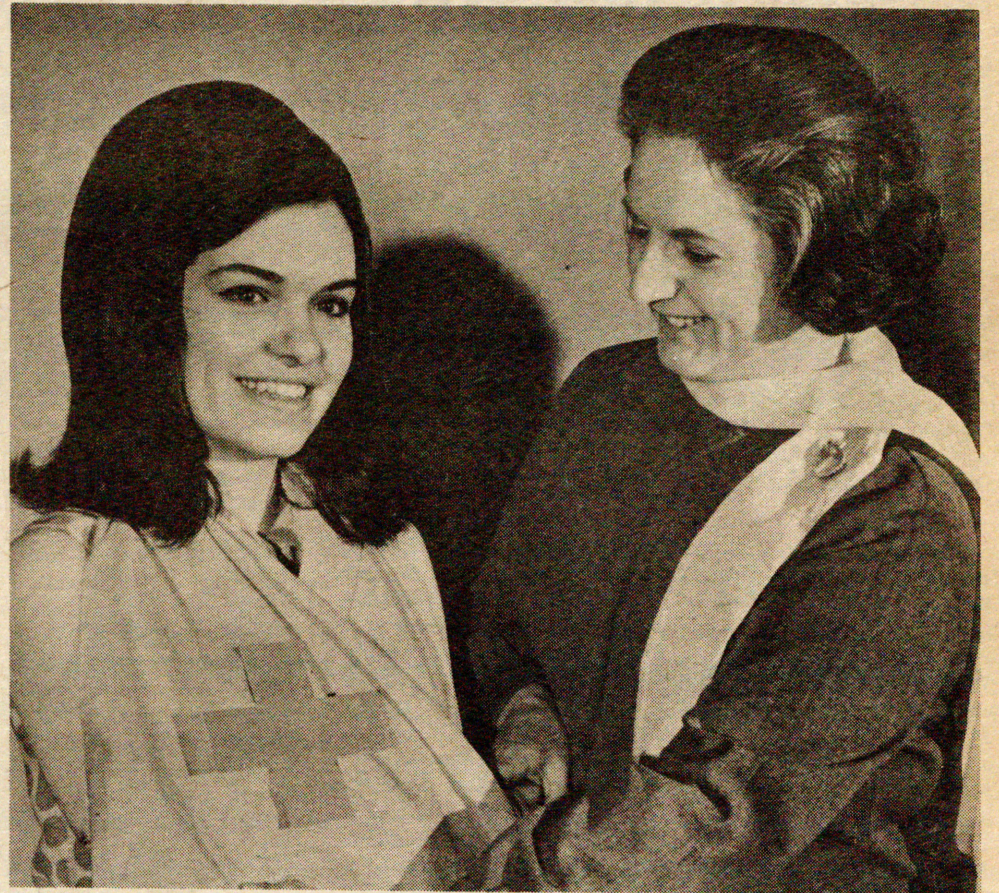

A first reminder to all prospective Lemont High football players, head varsity Coach Jan Cralle announced this week that practice will get underway on Wednesday, Aug. 20.

If you haven't engaged in any individual preliminary conditioning work, then now would be a good time to start "getting with it" for those first few days can find the muscles getting mighty stiff and sore.

The baseball talent of Lemont's Robert Dale Johnson was recently recognized when he was named to a berth on the double A Texas All Star team.

Pitching for the Memphis Mets, the hard throwing right hander has compiled an outstanding 8-3 won-lost record. Equally impressive is

... stands for the Department of Transportation. The Federal Government is making studies of the insurance industry through D.O.T., H.U.D. and Senate Hearings. Objective studies may suggest areas of revision and correction, but, if these studies imply that the insurance industry is responsible for high rates and restrictive underwriting practices, then perhaps we should ask these questions:

1. Who is responsible for highway design?
2. Who allows the drinking driver to drive?
3. Who is responsible for the inflationary spiral which has raised auto repair costs and hospital charges over 50% in the last ten years?
4. Who allows outlandish awards to auto claimants?
5. Who is to blame for the increasing rate of crime?

The answer to all of these questions is government in one form or another, and we, at ILLINOIS SECURITIES CO. are anxious to cooperate with both government and industry in attempting to solve such problems.

Award Frankfort School Contracts

FRANKFORT - Contracts for the addition to Chelsea School and some remodeling of Frankfort School have been awarded by the Frankfort grade school board in the amount of $345,740.

Architect and attorney fees, equipment and furnishings, and landscaping at Frankfort School are additional. The landscaping at Chelsea School is included in the general contract.

Money for the project was authorized last spring when voters approved a bond issue of $415,000.

The general contract went to the A.E. Berg Co., of Palos Heights. The total bid of this firm, covering the addition to Chelsea and the remodeling of Frankfort School, was $275,000.

There were three other bids and they ranged in price from $283,790 to $314,028. The contractor said the work would be completed within 40 days.

The plumbing contract for the Chelsea project was awarded to Les Allott Plumbing and Heating Co., Wilmington, whose bid of $16,700 was low. There were three other bids and they ranged from $21,950 to $25,482.

Contract for the electrical work on Chelsea was let to Kelso-Burnett Electric Co., Chicago, for $23,600. There was one other bid for this phase of the work, $28,325.

Four bids were submitted for the heating and ventilating contract at Chelsea and the contract was awarded to T. Leonas Company, of Hazel Crest, for $29,890. The other bids ranged from $37,300 to $41,360.

The work covered in these bids for Chelsea are in the general contract that covers the work at Frankfort School.

Urban, CCD principal; Sister Sandra Jean OSF, religious education coordinator; and Mrs. Jerry Bernas, assistant principal.

OFFICERS OF THE Singer-Warner Mothers Club announced that their ice cream social held July 27 was a huge success. Winner of the bike was Carrie Laketa. Winner of the doll cake, made and donated by Mrs. Lillian Capek, was Theresa Kluga. A special presentation was made to Delores Dillman for having been an active member for 19 years.

Homeowners Want Clean Surroundings: Not Landfill

LEMONT -- "Vigilance is the price not only for liberty but for a clean, healthful, beautiful environment," according to homeowners in the Acorn Ridge subdivision.

Threatening the area is the proposed landfill project slated for the Mt. Vernon Cemetery area.

Residents of the area affected by the landfill strongly oppose it and express their views accordingly. The following is part of a report made to the area residents by the committee in the homeowner's association.

"In 1960 Frank W. Chesrow, then Cook County Sanitary District president, and Dan Ryan, then Forest Preserve District president, joined concerned citizens in efforts to add the Sag Channel lands to the forest preserves. They were successful, and surely today, citizens in all Cook and adjoining counties, are grateful for the green, air-cleaning belt along the Cal-Sag Channel.

In 1966 Lemont Mayor John J. Kujawa, Township supervisor and Lemont Improvement Association president Lewis Ruppert, joined other village and township organizations and individuals in efforts to halt the Chicago Sanitary District's dumping of nauseous barge loads of sludge in an area just east of the Lemont village limits. They, too, were successful, and the whole citizenry appreciated the resulting cleaner air.

"Currently, the Citizens' Committee for Preservation of the Illinois-Michigan Canal seeks the cooperation of village, city, township, county and the two state governments as well as concerned citizens to save this historical channel for posterity.

"Professor John Lamb of the history department at Lewis College, Lockport, president of the committee, said: 'We foresee a narrow green belt continuous the entire length of the channel, with a trail for hikers and cyclists. Such a trail would be rich in Illinois-Michigan lore as well as native plants and wildlife.'

"Currently, also, Lemont village and township citizens are signing petitions, holding discussion meetings, and writing Cook County Commissioners and the Zoning Board of Appeals in opposition to the proposed landfill operation in Mt. Vernon Memorial Hills Cemetery in Lemont Township. They know from citizens' experiences in other areas that a "sanitary" landfill turns out to be an air-fouling garbage dump.

"Particularly alarming is that the 50 truckloads a day of debris along Hwy. 171, McCarthy and other roads would not only fill the air and homes with dust and stench, but would endanger the very lives of children who ride the school buses along the same routes. Also particularly offensive to all area residents is that while those trucks would keep our roads torn up and under repairs, we would pay the higher taxes necessary for those repairs, while the Mt. Vernon Memorial Hills', Inc." land is tax exempt.

"We, concerned citizens, trust that a large crowd will again attend the next hearing, sometime after Sept. 15, as they did the last one on Mar. 17. The date will be published as soon as new information is available."

Scouts Send Greetings To Astronauts

LEMONT -- Boy Scouts at the 7th national jamboree completed an exchange of greeting with the astronauts in the Apollo 11 mission to the moon, reported Steve Iversen, one of the boys from Troop 23 in Lemont who attended the jamboree.

The scouts, scouters, and staff members, all signed a salute to the astronauts. Copies of the greetings, along with scrolls for signing, were placed in all of the 19 camps and at places where the boys congregated throughout the jamboree groups.

The exchange was formed with the theme of the jamboree in mind, "Build to

The scouts message acknowledged the "latest demonstration of pioneering leadership" by the three men aboard the Apollo. Also the scouts saluted those men for "all you are doing to build greater opportunities for service to man's peaceful progress."

MOKENA -- Mrs. Volodymyra Demus, wife of Dr. P. T. Demus, of Mokena, who has had considerable to do with the preparation of the eye-catching display at the Illinois State Fair, by the Ukrainian National Women's League of America, will be on hand at Springfield with other league members when the fair opens today (Aug. 8) to answer questions about the exhibit.

The display is made up of two doll houses. These dolls and doll houses are not toys but a way of life in miniature.

The display is complete with scale items of furnishings and the dolls dressed in typical Ukrainian clothing.

All the items are hand-made in the traditional styles and patterns native to the area in the southeastern corner of Europe, which is now one of the members of the Soviet Union. Mrs. Demus made many of the items.

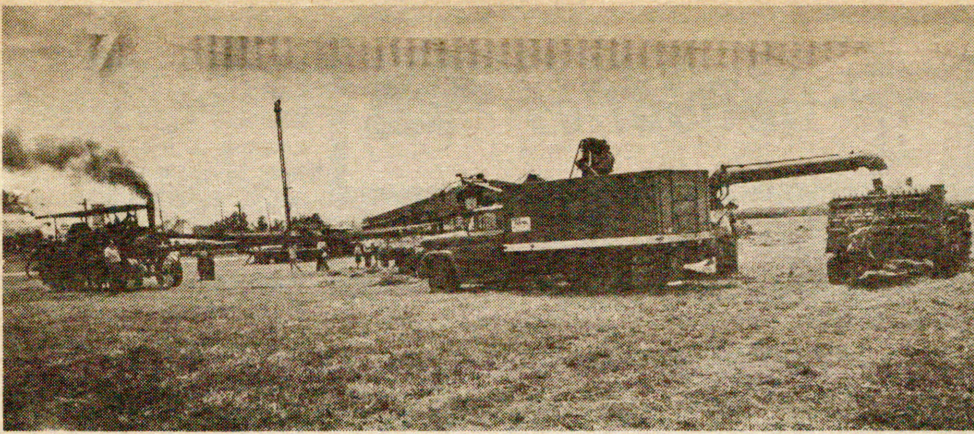

There are two houses - one a model of a typical modern Ukrainian home, with intricate embroidery on clothing, curtains, bed spreads, table covers, scarves, pillows, even pictures on the wall.

There are also handcarved wooden objects inlaid with mother-of-pearl, tiny plates on the walls, handwoven rugs and a table setting for a family gathering.

The other house is part of a typical Ukrainian village. The country house and village display customs of everyday life and the beautiful, colorful clothing featuring patterns which have been in use almost unchanged since before the time of Christ.

No End-of-Term Forms -No GI School Checks

SOUTHWEST -- Several thousand veterans in college this fall will not get the G.I. education check they expect in November from the Veterans Administration Donald E. Johnson, Administrator said recently.

"It would make him very happy if the college-bound G.I. Bill veteran proved him wrong this fall, he declared.

The fact is, Johnson said, many who were enrolled in college last semester have failed to send in their end-of-term certification of attendance card, and cannot be paid in the upcoming school term until they do.

Administrator Johnson said the VA is also holding nearly a half million dollars worth of June G.I. Bill checks, which cannot be mailed either until the attendance card reached VA computers.

G.I. Bill college students who did mail in their attendance cards in June will get paid the new term allowances on time—but those who skipped mailing to VA the required card certifying that they had completed the spring term will not get paid until they straighten out their accounts with VA.

This can be done, Johnson said, by mailing in that 3 by 7 white card with a blue stripe across the top to the VA immediately. If the veteran has lost this certification of attendance card he should get in touch with the VA office which has his records, and ask for another.

Johnson said thousands of delays and thousands of lost man-hours are encountered on college campuses and in VA offices each year.

WILL COUNTY--A course for high school graduates, "How to Study in College," is to be offered at the Joliet YMCA Aug. 18 to 22.

The program, a five evening series of lectures developed by two Purdue University professors, is aimed squarely at the problem of making the transition from high school to the rigors of academic life at college.

The authors are Dean R.F. Schwartz, director of Purdue North Central Campus, and Howard D. Murdock, Purdue North Central chemistry department.

Subjects covered in the five lectures are: How People Learn; Why We Forget; The Art of Listening; How to Take College Lecture Notes; Motivation for Maximum College Performance; How to Plan Your Time; A Basic Study Formula; Techniques of Review; Themes and Reports; Preparing For and Taking Tests and Examinations; The Vocabulary of College; What You Need to Know About Each Course and Professor; When and How to Obtain Academic Assistance; Understanding College Libraries and How they Differ; Personal Problems in Adjustment to College Living.

The two educators are known to avoid inflicting their listener with the humdrum academese which pervades some college classrooms, favoring straightforward, understandable and at times breezy language.

Fee for the course is $20. Information may be obtained by calling the Joliet Y at 726-5321. The program is open to only high school graduates.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

Neighbors and friends are quick to offer their help in times of bereavement. We hear it repeatedly, "Is there anything we can do?"

Occasionally there is something which the bereaved would like a friend or neighbor to help with, and we pass on these requests.

This spirit of helpfulness is commendable and is always appreciated.

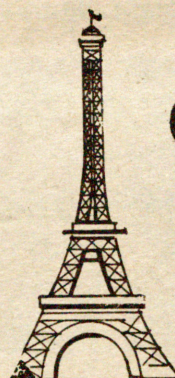

Respectfully,
